Giving Tuesday is a global movement to do good, to help your fellow man and your community, to share good fortune with others.

On Tuesday, November 30 you will have the opportunity to help us continue to provide excellent health care to the many in our community that aren't able to afford traditional health care.

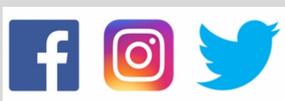

Those that are uninsured or under insured. Those that work two part-time jobs because there aren't enough hours available to support them full-time. Those that aren't eligible for benefits.

Your donation will help keep a young child healthy, immunized and able participate in sports and activities. It will allow a pregnant mother to receive prenatal care and education as a new mom. ## OTMDC Welcomes New Business Manager

Olde Towne is glad to have Munica Green as our new Business Manager. Munica brings over 15 years experience in the healthcare industry to Olde Towne. Her expertise include exceptional claim acceptance and reimbursement as well as collaboration with departments to ensure high-quality care for patients while increasing financial management and profitability of the organization. Munica has already implemented new procedures to enhance our business office and worked closely with our clinic director to increase reimbursement. She has quickly become established as an integral part of our Olde Towne family. Welcome Munica!

Nurse Practitioners Week November 7-13

Olde Towne is so fortunate to have these 5 amazing Nurse Practitioners on our staff. The to fundraising for a time and then to the Business Office where she continues to be an integral part of the staff.

Lindsay wears a lot of hats in her position at Olde Towne. She assists in overseeing the front office, working with patient accounts and insurance reimbursement as well as supply ordering and accounts receivable, just to name a few of her talents. She is also the person that seems to know the answer to anything that is asked around the office because at one time or another she has probably been tasked with some part of the matter. Lindsay says, "what I love most about working at Olde Towne is our family-like relationships within the staff and the relationships our staff members build with our patients. We connect with our patients, they aren't just numbers."

And most of our patients would probably say that the one name they know is Lindsay's. When she isn't working at Olde Towne, Lindsay is mom to a spunky 3 year old, Emma, which she says is the best job she's ever had. She is married to her husband Stewart and loves to spend time with their family and two dogs, Macon and Buxton - the latter named for her favorite place in the outer banks.

Lindsay enjoys spending her time watching Emma blossom in her own hobbies like gymnastics. She enjoys boating with her family in the summer and visiting Hatteras Island. She is also a great photographer focusing on weddings in her spare time. We are fortunate to have Lindsay as part of the Olde Towne family.

week of November 7-13 was Nurse Practitioners Week and we want to take a moment to thank them for their dedication, exceptional skills and excellent care.

Nurse Practitioners are advanced practice registered nurses. They have master's degrees, sometimes doctorate degrees and extensive clinical training. Many work in underserved communities or rural areas. They can diagnose complex health issues, help patients with management of diseases, prescribe medicines, read X-rays and more. Being a nurse practitioner is hard work, long hours and emotionally taxing. But despite that, it has been ranked as the third best job and second best healthcare job by U.S. News and World Report.

Our NPs are among the best in their field. Our patients are lucky to have these individuals as their caregivers because they are truly that, CAREgivers. Olde Towne is thankful for our Amazing NPs: Kendra Robinson, Susan Walkley, Stacey Richman, Jamara Christian and Sydney Greenberg.
